THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

BOOKS FOR THE TEEN AGE, 1973

This is a list of books, revised annually, on subjects of special interest and appeal to teenagers. Emphasis in selection of titles is on presentation which is clear, vivid, appealing, imaginative. All the books have been read and selected by the Committee on Books for Young Adults which is made up of librarians who work with teenagers in The New York Public Library. A large majority of the 1250 titles have been chosen from adult publications. The juvenile titles listed have value for all ages. Out-of-print books are included only when they are still generally available in public libraries. Although most of the books listed are hard cover editions, many are available in paperback, and some are paperback only. New books, most of which have been published in 1972, are indicated by an asterisk (*).

The books are constantly tested and tried with teenage readers in New York City. Since teenagers vary greatly in their interests, maturity, and reading ability, the books on this list vary greatly in difficulty and depth. They are not necessarily shelved in young people's collections because they do represent such a wide range from simple to complex, from light to profound.

They form a permanent exhibition in the Office of Young Adult Services, and at the Nathan Straus Young Adult Library, Donnell Library Center, 20 West 53rd Street. This library has 14,000 books, a wide selection of magazines, and an informal browsing section. Film programs and other activities of interest to teenagers are frequently scheduled at this center.

Every branch has many of the books on this list and other books of special interest to the teen age. They also have programs for teenagers from time to time. If you want advice about books and reading, if you want the schedules of programs in all branches, or if you would like to know how you can take part in the Library's radio program, Teen Age Book Talk, check with the Nathan Straus Young Adult Library, 790-6473, or with the Office of Young Adult Services, 790-6465.

LILLIAN MORRISON,
Chairman, Committee on Books for Young Adults

Law and Disorder, by James A. Forman. Nelson, 1972

"Law . . . must have an eye on the future and a hand on the pulse of the times. Law, though rooted in the past must change, and does; too rapidly for some, too slowly for others."

Blackberry Winter; My Earlier Years, by Margaret Mead. Morrow, 1972

"I have spent most of my life studying the lives of other peoples, faraway peoples, so that Americans might better understand themselves . . . I bring my own life to throw what light it may on how children can be brought up so that parents and children, together, can weather the roughest seas."

Design for the Real World; Human Ecology and Social Change, by Victor Papanek. Pantheon, 1972

"I hope this book will bring new thinking to the design process and start an intelligent dialogue between designer and consumer . . . . As socially and morally involved designers, we must address ourselves to the needs of a world with its back to the wall while the hands on the clock point perpetually to one minute before twelve."

SCIENCE

The World of the Bottlenosed Dolphin, by David K. Caldwell and Melba C. Caldwell. Lippincott, 1972

"Dolphins are extremely responsive to humans and show so much individuality in their bahavior that it is often impossible . . . to remain aloof. Such behavior on the part of dolphins, along with their intelligence, soon tends to lead the . . . observer astray, and before he knows it he may tend to think of them as people."

Brain Mechanisms and Mind, by Keith Oatley. Dutton, 1972

". . . the human brain contains about ten million million connections between its nerve cells. The challenge of brain research . . . is to explain how the mental capacities and behavior of man depend on the patterns of these interconnections."

From Ape to Adam; The Search for the Ancestry of Man, by Herbert Wendt. Bobbs, 1972

"Today our concern about the problem of our origins seems perhaps more serious and more urgent than it did to those who lived a hundred years ago, for behind the question, Where do we come from? there looms another, with its undertones of menace, Where are we going?"

ACTION, ADVENTURE, AND OTHER THINGS TO DO

Jungle Cowboy, by Stanley E. Brock. Taplinger, 1972

". . . the Indians sat on their horses and roared with laughter. I tried to laugh too, but felt ashamed and ridiculous. It would take a lot to prove that I could make a vaquero. I had been thrown by the tamest most inoffensive horse on the ranch. Now there was nothing else for it but to ride Cang!"

Whole Earth Cook Book, by Sharon Cadwallader and Judi Ohr. Houghton, 1972

"Do not discard your favorite recipes; instead, substitute natural ingredients and prepare your foods carefully to guard against the loss of nutrients. None of our recipes are complicated, as we want to turn you on to the relaxation in simple, natural cooking."

The Boys of Summer, by Roger Kahn. Harper, 1972

"At a point in life when one is through with boyhood, but has not yet discovered how to be a man, it was my fortune to travel with the most marvelously appealing of teams. During the early 1950s the Jackie Robinson Brooklyn Dodgers were . . . a fascinating mix of vigorous men."

In Hiding: The Life of Manuel Cortes, by Ronald Fraser. Pantheon, 1972

"In April 1969 Manuel Cortes, the last republican mayor of a small Spanish village before it fell to the Franco forces during the civil war, emerged after thirty years' hiding from the regime . . . The following pages are his and his wife's and their daughter's account of those years."

Report from Engine Co. 82, by Dennis Smith. Saturday Review, 1972

"I'm a New York City fireman . . . We are different from the rest of the people who work in this town: bankers, ad-men, truck drivers, secretaries, sellers and buyers, all have a high degree of assurance that they will return home from work in the evening the same way they left in the morning—on their feet . . . . Firemen are never sure."

800,000,000; The Real China, by Ross Terrill. Little, 1972

"Our press talks of China as power struggles and bombs and numbers. But here is China as rice and heat, glue and vaccinations, babies crying, old men playing chess."
